

Kazakhstan Gender Gap Analysis

Kazakhstan closes 71% of its overall gender gap, ranking near the global median, but political empowerment lags dramatically behind economic and health scores.

Kazakhstan Gender Gap Index Over Time

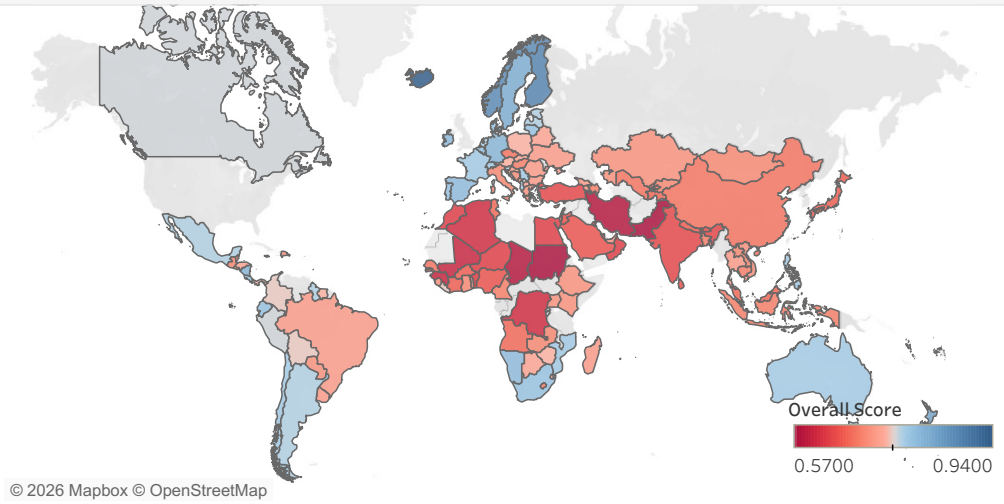

Kazakhstan Gender Gap by Pillar (2023)

Political empowerment sits at just 0.12, about a sixth of Economic Opportunity. Soviet-era policy pushed mass female education starting in the 1920s, and Kazakhstan sustained that investment after independence but political access never followed the same trajectory, and that gap hasn't closed.

Global Gender Gap Map (2023)

Central Asia Gender Gap Comparison (2023)

Kazakhstan sits near the global median but leads all of Central Asia, suggesting the gap reflects a regional post-Soviet pattern rather than a Kazakhstan-specific problem.

Data: WEF Global Gender Gap Index (2005–2023)
Visualization: Akbota Serikkyzy, 2026